

BLACK EYED DOG

In Riverton, people still dream, imagining a better life. So is Betty, who never imagined she will still be, at thirthy, a waitress in the local diner. At that age, she was seeing herself travelling the world and selling millions of albums like her idol, Joni Mitchell. So are also Wayne, who dreams of having his own business and to get back with Betty, and David , who dreams to run away. Instead, Betty's caught in a web of responsibilities and complicated relationships and sees no way out, but things are about to change...
