

BAMBOLA DI SATANA (LA)

A middle class couple – Elizabeth & Jack – arrives to the old French castle, to partake in a reading of the last will of young lady's uncle, just to find out he left her these ancient premises in inheritance. Overwhelmed by bizarre aura of the castle they choose to enjoy themselves in a beautiful countryside, casually starting to discover it's striking nicety. Soon enough they are to find out their new home has been object of a purchase offer, made by a local businessman. When they encounter this gentleman during a walk through the forest, he mentions that a deal is still on the table, waiting to be reconsidered by the new owner. Suddenly strange things start to happen with a young lady being a centre of the brutal game, whose puppet masters are nearer than she expects.
